

- The S&P 500 ended a three-week streak of positive performance, returning -1.9%. The tech-heavy NASDAQ Composite fell 0.3% during the week.
- On Wednesday, the Federal Reserve announced that it expected to increase interest rates sooner than originally anticipated, as 13 of the 18 Federal Open Market Committee members projected an interest rate hike by the end of 2023.
- While initial jobless claims rose by 37,000 to 412,000 for the week ending June 12th, the four-week moving average fell to its lowest level since March 2020.

Figure 1. Index Performance

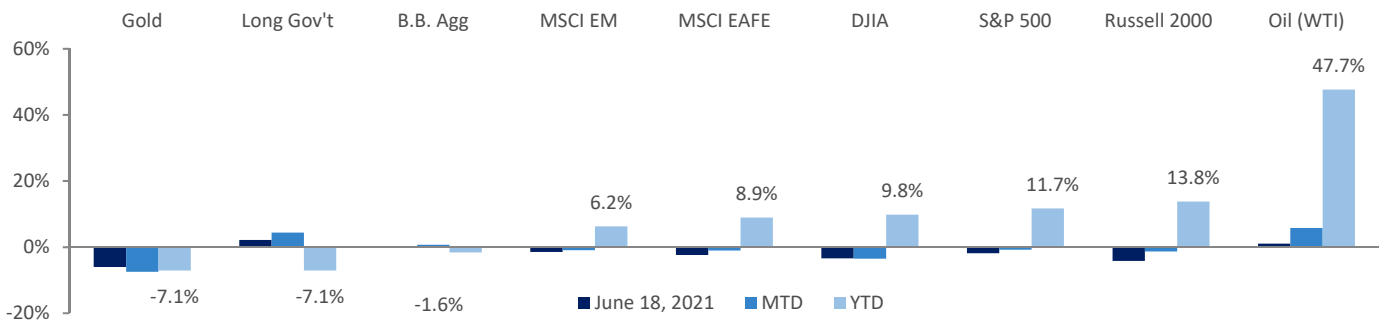

Figure 2. S&P 500 Sector Performance

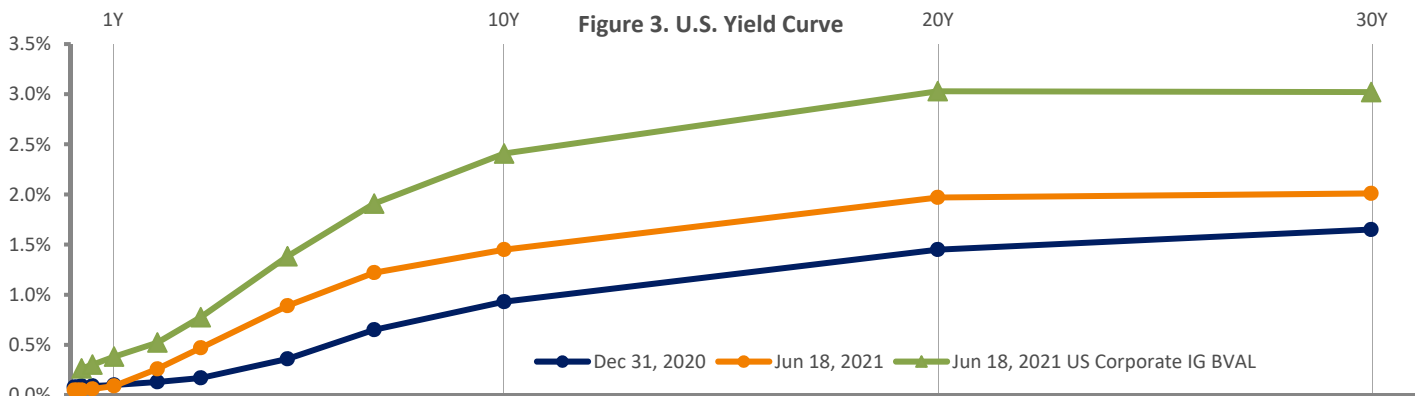

Figure 3. U.S. Yield Curve

Data Source: Bloomberg

Click on Greenwich logos for award disclosures.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Index performance returns do not reflect any management fees, transaction costs, or expenses. Indices are unmanaged and cannot be invested in directly. Current performance data may be higher or lower than actual data quoted. This document was prepared without regard to the specific objectives, financial situation, or needs of any particular person or entity who may receive it. This analysis is for informational purposes only and is not intended to be an offer, solicitation, or recommendation with respect to the purchase or sale of any security, nor a recommendation of services supplied by any investment organization and does not include all factors that should be considered when choosing an investment advisor or strategy. This presentation is not investment, legal, tax, or accounting advice. Investors should consult with their own professional advisors for advice on any investment, legal, tax, or accounting issue(s). While the information contained herein highlights important data, it does not purport to highlight all dimensions of risk. The information provided herein is based on matters as they exist as of the date of preparation, or otherwise indicated throughout the presentation, and not as of any future date, and will not be updated or otherwise revised to reflect information that subsequently becomes available, or circumstances existing or changes occurring after the date hereof. No representations are made as to the accuracy or completeness of the information set forth in these materials. LCG reserves the right at any time and without notice to change, amend, or cease publishing the information. If this data is reproduced, in whole or in part, in any form, the following reference language must be utilized "Source Information: Compiled By: LCG Associates, Inc.; Bloomberg." LCG has not received any compensation related to the collection or distribution of this data.